MIT Director To Speak Here

Dr. Max E. Millikan, director of the Center for International Studies in Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will discuss the politics of underdeveloped countries at 9:30 this morning in Mohawk Valley Community College.

Dr. Millikan, the first 1963 speaker in the college's international program of lectures, films and art exhibits, is a former assistant director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

He has co-authored two books on international relations: "The Emerging Nations," with Donald Blackmer, and "A Proposal: Key to an Effective Foreign Policy," with Walter Rostow, a former history professor at MIT.

In 1947, he was assistant executive secretary for President Truman's Committee on Foreign Aid.

This morning's public lecture in the MVCC gymnasium will be admission free.
